

Program of General Session

EUROPE SOUTHWEST ASIA 3rd September
Archaeozoological data concerning the animal resources used in the settlement of Halmyris (Romania)
Archaeozoological evaluation of the animal resources used in the food economy of the Iron Age fortress at Piscul Crasani (Ialomita County, Romania)
A new multidisciplinary approach to zooarchaeology: human-animal relationship at Tarquinia (Italy)
Milk and Meat: Cattle in Iron-Age Ireland
Animal scapulae and phalanges in human graves: A mystery from the Early Bronze Age in Bohemia (Czech Republic)
Meat offerings and other bone finds from the Early Iron Age burial site at the tumulus at Rovná, Czech Republic
Cattle-based agriculture in the Early and Middle Neolithic in the Polish lowlands
Bones of Transition: Iron Age-Roman Zooarchaeological Assemblages from East Wear Cliff, Kent, UK
Mammoth Killers and Mammoth Scavengers in the Upper Paleolithic of Central Europe
Mammals in everyday life of Gravettian hunter-gatherers in Central Europe
Examining the indications for the skinning of the horses from the Palaeolithic site Schöningen 13 II-4 (Germany)
Animal remains from an Early Bronze Age site - Tel Erani (Israel)
The role of the red fox (Vulpes vulpes) in the early Neolithic: EPPNB Ahihud as a case study.
All these goats – Results from the Middle Pre-Pottery Neolithic B (MPPNB) site of Shkarat Msaied, Southern Jordan.
Investigating Neolithic camel hunters at Baynunah (Abu Dhabi, U.A.E.)
Revealing the secrets of the fossil mammals from Qau-el-Kebir
FAUNA OF ANCIENT SHIRAK (ARMENIA)
EUROPE MEDIEVAL 4th September
Archaeozoology of early medieval strongholds in Bohemia (the Czech Republic)
Birds in Medieval Norway
Insights on Mudéjar diet in Medieval Lisbon, Portugal (12–14th centuries): data from Mouraria
Two cesspits from late and post-medieval Brussels (Belgium): what do they tell us?
AMERICAS 4th September
The presence of domesticated camelids (Lama glama) in the Chaco-Santiagoña region (Argentina) during the agro-pottery stage (350 AC-1550 AC).
Domestication and consumption of camelids during the Middle Holocene in the Puna of Salta, Argentina: osteometrical and zooarchaeological contributions from the Alero Cuevas and Abrigo Pozo Cavado sites.
Exploring the zooarchaeological evidence of otariids exploitation by terrestrial hunter-gatherers along the western coast of San Matías Gulf, Argentina.
Felines in Xochicalco, an epiclastic site of Mesoamerica, discussing the biocultural diversity
Study of the late quaternary avifauna from Loltun cave, Yucatan, Mexico
Modelling past distributions of North American Turkeys (Meleagris sp.)
5000 years of deposition of large mammals and megamammals at the end of the Pleistocene at Ultima Esperanza, Chile
Alero El Puerto: un acercamiento al modo de vida cazador recolector en un área semiárida desde la fauna (Valle de Hurtado, IV Región, Chile)

Thinking from a distributional approach: a guanaco (Lama guanicoe) archaeofaunal landscape in Southwestern Patagonia (Argentina)
Weathering patterns in bones from recent vertebrates in the Pampas region, Argentina
Archaeological Evidence of use of bone as fuel in the Huencu Nazar site (Pampean region, Argentina). Implications for hunter gatherers landuse and for studies of site structure
Town versus Country Foodways and Social Status at Britain's Smyrnéa Settlement, Florida, North America, 1766-1777
Pride and Precariousness: a Historical Zooarchaeological Examination of the Dynamics of Colonial Identities in New Mexico
Much More than Meat: Towards a Zooarchaeology of Fur, Hair, Pelts, and Textiles along the Northwest Coast of North America
Antlers of Blastocerus dichotomus . On distinguishing natural from anthropic marks
3D photogrammetric models based on historiognath rodents. Upper Ongamira Valley, Northern Córdoba Province, Central Argentina.
WORKED BONE 5th September
The Lower Palaeolithic metapodial hammers of Schöningen
The osseous industry from El Pirulejo (Cordoba, Spain) during the Heinrich Events 2 and 1 and the Younger Dryas
Sawn goat horn-cores from Augusta Raurica
Bone points from Northern Australia in Social and Environmental Context
A Mudéjar bone tool workshop (13–14th century AD) in Lisbon, Portugal
The exploitation of hard animal materials in Iran during the early Holocene: first elements of characterization and perspectives of research
DOGS AND CATS 5th September
Pre-Columbian domestic dogs (Canis familiaris) at Southern South America
Dogs in antiquity and late antiquity from South Bulgaria archaeological sites
Paleogenomics of pre-Columbian North American dogs
Pets of 12th-14th AD Komana, Turkey
The master and his best friend. The role of the dog in human life and beyond in the Southeastern Alpine region during Roman times
New data on the morphology and health of Early-Roman household pets (cats, dogs) from the Red Sea port Berenike, Egypt.
ASIA 5th September
Examining the Environmental Adaptation Strategies During the Chinese Neolithic Period in the Lower Yangtze River Valley through the Faunal Materials from the Site of Tianluoshan (7000-5500 cal BP)
Zooarchaeological investigation of Monitor Lizards (Varanus sp.) from Hoabinian archaeological deposits in continental South-East Asia
The hunting strategy in the Hoabinian period of northern Vietnam
An Investigation into the Prehistoric Subsistence and Sacrifice Customs in Huai River Basin: A Case Study from Jinzhai Site, Anhui province, China
Shepherds and farmers in Central Asia: new clues about animal exploitation from the Samarkand Oasis from the Hellenistic to the Islamic period.
Role of study of Correlation Between Archaeozoological and Contemporary Literary Sources in Context of Ancient India.
From Myth to Art: A method for documenting and studying mythological zoofoms in ancient art, with special reference to the Unicorn within the Indian Subcontinent.
FISH 6th September
Analysis of Ichthyoarchaeological Remains from the Thousand Spring Site (CA-SNI-11), San Nicolas Island, California

Catches and bycatch of marine fauna can be used for reconstruction of marine economy
Fish as a delicacy and a staple: Exploring intra-site variability of fish consumption practices on the Swahili coast
Zooarchaeology of the Native American Sturgeon Fishery in Coastal Oregon, 350 BC to AD 1150
From Sea to Desert platter- the Role of Fish in the Byzantine Negev
Influence of marine habitats and fishing techniques on the fish eaten at coastal settlements in 18th Century Qatar.
Fishing in southern Vietnam: strategies, technical knowledge and regional variability of osseous technology.
Exploitation of marine resources in the "Circle of the Strait" in the Iberian Peninsula and Tingitana Peninsula during Antiquity. Updating of the archaeo-ichthyology evidence.
METHODS 6th September
EVOSHEEP – First zootechanical innovations in Southwest Asian societies (6th-1rst millennia B.C.): origin and development of sheep breeds – An ANR Project
Using Differential Geometric Methods and Machine Learning to Improve Zooarchaeological Methods for Classifying Fragmented Faunal Remains
Sheep Birth Distribution in Past Herds in European Mountain by Analysis of Teeth Enamel Oxygen Isotope Ratios
The impact of mobility on the morphology of the astragalus in Suids raised in captivity
Studying caprine breeds from protohistoric Provence and Southern Alps (France) : 3D geometric morphometrics applied to postcranial bones
Sharing and combining geometric morphometric datasets to track the long history of pig domestication in Southwest Asia
Distinguishing the Thoracic vertebrae of the Common Duiker (Sylvicapra grimmia) from other Small Antelopes.
Identifying and interpreting barrelled meat assemblages
A Taphonomic Study of Bird Remains from the Outer Coast of Southeast Alaska.
Mapping the Truth: Implications of fossil orientation and distribution for the site formation history of Schöningen 13II-4
AFRICA 7th September
Late Pleistocene range of Bos opisthonomus in the North-Eastern Africa and its significance within the subsistence model of Palaeolithic societies. New archaeozoological data from Affad, Sudan.
New analysis of seal remains from Nelson Bay Cave, South Africa
Animal resources exploitation in northern South Africa during the Middle Iron Age
Cattle and Social Formation in Southern Africa during the Second Millennium AD
Cursed cows have short horns. How the Chinese proverb applies to ancient Egyptian cattle
GENETICS 7th September
Ancient mtDNA analyses of sheep domestication process on the way from its domestication center in Southeast Anatolia to West Anatolia
Preliminary Results on mtDNA Haplogroups of Ancient Goat Samples from Oylum Höyük
Did late Pleistocene humans introduce Sus scrofa into the Ryukyu Islands?: DNA analyses of ancient and modern samples
Insights into goat domestication from ancient genomics